

Greed is a Curse – A Dog's Tale

Once upon a time, there was a hungry dog wandering through the streets in search of food. After a long search, he found a juicy bone outside a butcher's shop. Overjoyed, he quickly grabbed it in his mouth and ran away to a quiet place to enjoy his meal.

On his way home, he had to cross a bridge over a river. As he walked across the bridge, he looked down into the water and saw his own reflection.

The foolish dog thought it was another dog with a bigger bone in its mouth.

Greedy and eager to have that bone too, he growled and barked at his reflection. But as he opened his mouth to bark, the bone he had fell into the river.

He watched helplessly as the bone sank and disappeared into the water. His own greed had cost him the very thing he already had.

Sad and empty-stomached, the dog learned a hard lesson that day:

"Greed is a curse – it can take away even what you already possess."
